TORRENS LAW

A MEASURE IN WHICH EVERY REALTY OWNER SHOULD BE INTERESTED

Every man and woman in California who owns or expects to own real estate of any kind, city property, farm or mining lands, should be vitally interested in the passage of the "land title law," which will be numbered 22 on the November ballot. This measure embraces all the best time-tried features of the Torrens act, which has been in successful operation in several states and foreign countries for years.

The act provides a method by which it is possible to transfer real property as quickly and as easily as one could transfer a certificate of bank stock or railroad stock of equal value. It should be stated at the outset that it is not compulsory. Only those who desire to use it need do so. Anybody caring to go to the great trouble and expense demanded by transfer through private title insurance or title guarantee companies or abstract companies may do so if this law is passed.

Charles E. Batchellor, who has prepared the argument against this popular measure finds fault on one point only that is worthy of notice. It is that land once registered under the Torrens system must again be restored to the present absurd system, the pet of the title insurance corporations.

This feature of the act is one of its most important. Tax title "sharks" and title insurance companies will cease to reap rich and unmerited rewards for their shrewdness on the one hand and their unnecessary services on the other, if all or most of the land is registered under the Torrens system, for registration places it beyond the danger of being sold for taxes without due warning to the owner beyond the necessity or desirability of securing the high priced services of a title insurance company.

It is noteworthy in this connection that the little insurance companies and their agents and the "tax title sharks" are the only ones opposing the law.

The average expense of making a transfer of or mortgaging property, including abstract, examinations, the making out of papers, etc., at present, when the transaction is put through by a title company, is $20 to $25 on property worth $2500 to $3000. Several days, sometimes two or three weeks or more, elapse before a deal is consummated.

Under the Torrens system the transaction will cost from $1 to $3, and will require from an hour to half a day at the most.

Nothing is safer, for the owner has a court decision forever quieting his title against all other claimants. As a still further protection at the time the court's decree is issued, a small charge (one-tenth of one per cent of the valuation) is made, which goes into a "Torrens title assurance fund," which provides state title insurance ever after for that property, without further expense. The charge for this insurance made by private corporations enables them to erect great office buildings, and few demands are made upon the funds of these companies to meet the promises made in their policies.

Thus far the Torrens act has never failed to pass when put to popular vote. It would be folly to assume that the wide-awake, alert citizens of California will let the measure go to defeat by default. Vote "yes" on No. 22 on the ballot, "land title act."

MRS. E. NORINE LAW

Word has been received by Mrs. Hattie E. Gaylord, a very near and dear friend and co-worker in Michigan for many years, of the homegoing of Mrs. E. Norine Law. Burial took place in Detroit Oct. 10th. Many will remember her lectures given here three years ago in five different places. As a lecturer, author and vocalist, she was one of the most popular lecturers on the American platform for twenty-seven years.

Her work has won thousands to the temperance cause and a better life, as will also her books, "The Shame of a Great Nation," or a story of the white slave traffic published in 1909, the first of its kind, "Under the Shadow of a Curse." Parliamentary book and song book also show her manifold interest in the work.

While here in Glendale Rev. Humphrey remarked about her marvelous ability to do things. She was twice a delegate from the United States across the water to the International Congress of Alcoholism. Her home has been in Los Angeles since coming to California. She was sick only a few months and in the prime of life, for she was 51 years old at the time of death. A great and glorious woman has been given the welcome home, to which there is no returning.

MRS. HATTIE GAYLORD.

HOMEWARD BOUND

W. B. KIRK RETURNS FROM BUSINESS AND PLEASURE TRIP IN THE MIDDLE WEST

Chico, Cal., Oct. 11, 1914.

Dear "News:" State prohibition is an issue in the Colorado election this fall, as well as in California. The liquor interests are waging a very systematic campaign against it, especially in the use of big placards in the windows of the cities of Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, and by a very liberal use of the billboards. They are very "foxy" at the game of politics, using the pictures of President Wilson, Democrat; Taft, Republican, and Roosevelt, Progressive, and having an alleged quotation from each of them to the effect that he considers the liquor question as purely a local issue, and is opposed to making it a state or national one.

Their appeals are also painted on the billboards, a sample of which is "Prohibition Crushes Labor, Capital, Progress and Self-Government."

Large posters in Pueblo make a statement as to the amount of money the liquor business pays to the community in license fees, taxes, rentals, wages, etc., showing a total of over a million and a half dollars per year, which the city will lose if the state goes "dry." This is such a palpable falsehood that it would really seem it would prove a boomerang to their cause. Leaving out the moral phase of the case altogether, how do they figure that the people won't realize that all of this money is taken from the community as profits which, if charged on any other line of merchandise would be regarded as pure robbery, and for which there is in reality no "value received." If this volume of money were spent for commodities of real value, how much more in taxes, wages and rentals would be returned to the city!

When a thinking man further remembers the debit side of the business—the enormous cost to the community in police courts, jails, and penitentiaries, nearly all of which is chargable to the liquor business—he at once perceives how false and misleading these statements are. He needn't go any further than the material side of the question. When the moral side is considered, oh, any school boy can produce overwhelming evidence on that side.

On the other hand the "dry" forces are receiving great help from the evangelistic work which is being done at strategic points in the state. Billy Sunday in Denver, Charles Reign Scoville in Pueblo, and E. J. Bulgin in other places, are having wonderful meetings, and are dealing sledge-hammer blows to the liquor business. With their help it is thought there is an excellent chance to carry the state, notwithstanding the money and powerful influences being brought to bear by the opposition.

It is surely only a question of time with the liquor interests in every state, and they are beginning to see the handwriting on the wall. Any man with an ounce of brains can see it, and if he doesn't get out "while the getting's good," his plea of confiscation will fall on deaf ears, when he does have to go.

Query—The Denver Post, a journal with "yellow" tendencies, has large painted billboards on all of the roads leading into Denver reading: "Denver Post Has a Heart and Soul." I am trying to find out what the publishers mean by it. Individuals have hearts and souls, but how can a corporation or a newspaper? The very statement signifies that other papers are without them. Brother Cowan, you'll have to inquire into this and seek to inculcate a heart and soul into The News, because the Post is very successful, having circulation and advertising much larger than its competitors. Cultivate your "heart and soul"—it pays.

My trip in Kansas was brief—long enough to learn, however, that crops are good and the people prosperous. I had to return to Denver, whence my route has brought me over the D. & R. G., celebrated for its scenery and late trains. They made a mistake this trip, however, because our train came through on time.

I had delightful weather everywhere till I reached Utah on the return trip, where they have had a week of rainy weather. Up in the Cache valley, which is one of the finest and most prosperous in the West, the roads were a "sight to see"—reminded one of old times in Missouri or Iowa.

Returning to California yesterday via the Western Pacific was the most delightful part of my trip. The salt basins west of Salt Lake City were covered with water from the rains for miles and miles. Dreary enough at best, they seemed even more so as we ran through the shallow water, but the magnificent view of Pilot mountain, which is the highest in Nevada, and the beautiful scenery down Feather river canyon, were among the finest experiences I have had. The beautiful forest and mountain scenery of this canyon for one hundred miles from Portola to Oroville, has to be seen to be appreciated.

The next time you go east, don't fail to go or come that way. But the sunny skies and balmy air of California seem mighty good. Expect to be home in a week.

CHORAL CLUB

LARGE NUMBER OF GLENDALE CITIZENS UNITE FOR CHORUS WORK

The Glendale Choral Club, which was recently organized under the personal direction of Mr. C. E. Ringquest, has proven itself of sufficient value to enable them to procure one of the finest and most prominent choral directors in Los Angeles, Mr. J. B. Poulin, as leader. Mr. Poulin heard this chorus for the first time Monday evening, October 12, when they met for practice in the Intermediate school auditorium at eight o'clock, and seemed more than pleased with the talent therein. Much interest and enthusiasm on the part of the club was created by an announcement made by Mr. Poulin to the effect that he saw great possibilities in the work of this club.

Miss Gertrude Champlain, a prominent and talented local musician, has been secured as accompanist. The chorus already numbers over fifty voices, the following being charter members:

Martin, first vice-president; Mrs. Helen I. Campbell, second vice-president; Mrs. J. H. Orth, secretary, and Mr. W. F. Harrison, treasurer.

HOW WILL YOU VOTE ON THE AMENDMENTS?

The Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations is going to furnish the means of information to all the residents of Glendale, as they have arranged two evening meetings to which everyone is cordially invited, and at which the most important measures will be discussed by men and women who are competent to handle the subjects with skill and intelligence.

The speakers for Friday, Oct. 16, will be the following: Judge Willis I. Morrison, Judge Louis M. Meyers and Mrs. Florence Collins Porter.

These meetings will be held at 8 o'clock sharp at the high school auditorium on the evenings of Friday, Oct. 16, and Tuesday, Oct. 20. Let everyone avail himself of this splendid opportunity of educating himself beforehand, that he may not have the regrets that are sure to follow if he finds that he has voted on the wrong side.

LOCAL ARTIST RECOGNIZED

Walter L. Cheever of Kenneth road is among the exhibitors of the California Art Club, which is holding its fifth annual exhibition in the spacious and beautiful gallery at Exposition park, having had two pictures accepted by the jury.

This exhibition, composed of the works of Southern California's foremost artists, continues to the end of the month, and is free to the public Sunday afternoon and daily except Wednesday afternoon.

INDUSTRIAL DISTRICT

URGENT NEED FOR ITS FORMATION IN GLENDALE IS VERY EVIDENT

Judging from the reports at the meeting of the board of trustees of the city of Glendale, Tuesday evening, there is urgent need for the formation of an industrial district in this city. Residents living in the vicinity of the Bentley-Schoeneman lumber yards on the block east of Maryland avenue, and between Fifth street and Broadway, want the lumber company to move the yards elsewhere.

Someone had the cruel thought a week ago to suggest that territory south of First street in the vicinity of Howard street be set off for an industrial district, and that the Broadway lumber yards should find quarters there. The suggestion has brought forth a strong protest from citizens residing on Howard and Isabel streets south of First street.

These people do not object to keeping the industries now located there, but they do object to others locating there. So the final result will be the formation of an industrial district somewhere in the city of Glendale to which all present industries will move.

However, it will require several months to get the question settled amicably.

NEW YEAR OPENED WITH LARGE RECEPTION

Like unto the day was the opening reception and garden tea given by the Tuesday Afternoon Club at the home of the club president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, 106 Orange street, Tuesday afternoon.

Over two hundred members, new and old, were received by the executive board, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president; Mrs. E. D. Goode, vice-president; Mrs. Frederick Baker, second vice-president; Mrs. William W. Ramsey, recording secretary; Mrs. A. L. Weaver, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Warren Roberts, treasurer, and the chairmen of the various committees and sections who assisted.

Beautiful chrysanthemums were used throughout, their yellow heads brightening the dining-room, and huge pink shaggy ones adorning the living-room.

Informality reigned supreme, and aside from a splendid address given by the president, announcements made by the various chairmen of the different study sections, and a report of $132 net from the Fiesta given by the club recently, a social hour of introductions and making acquaintances were enjoyed.

The beautiful painting entitled "The High Bridge at Ivanhoe," done by the well-known and highly talented deceased artist, Mr. Eugene C. Frank, and donated to the club by the late artist's widow, Mrs. E. C. Frank, 578 Eagle Rock road, was on exhibition and hung above the fern-banked mantel in the living-room of Mrs. Jones' home, where it will remain until the clubhouse is built and completed.

Delicious refreshments in charge of and served by Mrs. H. H. Martin and her loyal assistants on the hospitality committee, were also among the delights of the afternoon, which proved to be the most enjoyable and largest attended opening or president's day the club has yet known.

TROPICO BRIDGE LUNCHEON CLUB MRS. TURCK'S GUESTS

Plumbago and La France roses furnished a dainty and frenchy combination for decorative purposes throughout the home of Mrs. Chas. M. Turck, 521 North Glendale avenue, Tropico, when she entertained the Tropico Bridge Luncheon Club on Tuesday. A 1 o'clock luncheon preceded the usual game of auction, the table at which the hostess and guests were served having boasted of a center mound of the same floral tributes as used in other parts of the house.

Mrs. Arthur Lewis, the next hostess to entertain the club in her home, 241 South Kenwood street, scored highest and received a handsome cut water pitcher as a prize. Others present were Mrs. William Mabry, Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, Mrs. Charles Barker, Mrs. William Harvey, Mrs. Everitte K. Barnes, Mrs. Stuart Street and the gracious hostess.

TO SPEAK ON SIOUX INDIANS

The missionary society of the Congregational church of Glendale will meet Thursday afternoon, Oct. 15, with Mrs. H. W. Yarick, 1447 West Third street. Mrs. C. C. Butterfield will speak on conditions of the Sioux Indians.

NOTED MEDICAL DOCTOR LOCATES HERE

J. Harold Brooks, M. D., physician and surgeon, has recently purchased one of the most substantial edifices in Glendale, corner of Brand boulevard and Second street, and having made extensive alterations has installed all of the latest appliances for the treatment of diseases in the acute stages. A number of prominent citizens have already inspected the offices and equipment of Glendale's latest medical acquisition and have expressed themselves proud that our growing community should be attracting the best in every line.

Doctor Brooks evidently believes in practicing what he preaches. For many years he has been recommending to his Los Angeles patients the beautiful city of the foothills as an ideal place for health and comfort. It was largely upon the doctor's advice that Rev. John H. Troy, the well-known pastor of the First Baptist church, moved his family to Glendale for the health of his children, and all that the doctor promised in the way of health was evidently fulfilled.

The Inhalatorium, a modern appliance for the treatment of ear, nose, throat and lungs by inhalation of antiseptic oils, has been installed. This remarkable appliance is also effective in the treatment of rheumatism and skin and blood diseases. The latest and best electrical appliances, such as X-ray, etc., with a special instrument for the treatment of cancer by solar rays, have also been installed. The operating room is a model.

The doctor is pleased to show his new offices to his brethren of the medical fraternity and also to the general public. The Brooks family will be a valuable accession to the local Baptist church.

DR. AND MRS. EVERLY ENTERTAIN

Mrs. H. V. Everly entertained a number of friends Saturday afternoon with a sewing party to meet her mother and sister, Mrs. K. R. Battin and Miss Pauline Battin of San Diego. The house was tastefully decorated in yellow field daisies, the same color scheme being carried out in the cakes and ices.

After the absorbing game, "A Shakespearean Romance," the prize was awarded Mrs. E. H. Willisford.

Mrs. Everly's sister, Miss Battin, is a prominent club woman of San Diego, having been president of the San Diego Shakespeare Club for the past two years, and is at present treasurer of the San Diego County Federation of Women's Clubs.

On Sunday Dr. and Mrs. Everly gave a most charming dinner party to a number of out-of-town friends. Covers were laid for twelve, the guests being Rev. and Mrs. Robert Glaze of Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Street of Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Steelman and son Stewart, Jr., Mrs. K. R. Battin and Miss Pauline Battin of San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Street were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Everly for the week-end and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Shearer of Los Angeles were luncheon guests at the same home Monday.

We beg to acknowledge receipt of copy of your anniversary number and we wish to compliment you upon its appearance, as it is a very creditable publication in every way.

What especially pleases us is the fact that you have taken the care to bring out the value of our engravings, as we make quality our first consideration, but find too many cases where publishers fail to bring out the value we put into our engravings.

We will appreciate having you send us twenty to twenty-five copies, which we desire to send to some publishers who either have produced inferior special editions or are contemplating such an issue and whom we desire to show what we deem the proper handling of such work.

The anniversary number of the Glendale Evening News is at hand and is by far the largest and finest number issued by a newspaper in the San Fernando valley to come to our office. The anniversary number is composed of 64 pages, six columns to the page, and cover. The entire number is replete with handsome half-tone cuts illustrating local scenes with text descriptive of Glendale's business, civic and social life. Editor and Publisher A. T. Cowan, who has been a resident of Glendale about two years, is to be congratulated on this most excellent number, which is a credit to his ability and enterprise and the city of Glendale.—San Fernando Press.

DANCING PARTY OF PINK AND WHITE

Pink and white was the color scheme that prevailed at the beautiful dancing party given one evening recently by Miss Kathleen Dodge in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Dodge, 101 South Central avenue, dozens of carnations and roses having been arranged in showers and banked about the spacious rooms from which all furniture and rugs had been moved in preparation for the merry tripping.

The breakfast-room, which was attractively decorated in blue to correspond with the furnishings therein, served as a cozy retreat for a word or two between dances, as did the porch and pergola with their rich quantities of potted plants and ferns and shaded lights and comfortable divan and chairs. It was in the pergola that delicious iced punch was generously served and disposed of throughout the evening.

About 11 o'clock a buffet supper was served and in this, as in the dainty hand-adorned programs, the pink and white motif predominated.

Receiving with the charming little hostess were her mother, Mrs. L. G. Dodge, and Mrs. John Tweedy of Los Angeles, and guests for the evening were the Misses Vera Morrow, Hazel Smith, Katherine Chipman, Messrs. Kenneth Crawford, Roy Page, Geo. Benkert, Frank Cooley, Carl Hyde, Vernon Snively and Channing Faylette, of Los Angeles; the Misses Mary Jane Evans, Dorothy Hobbs, Pauline Hamilton, Lola East, Grace Beach, Esther Schremp, Ethel Collins, Messrs. John McCoy, John DeWar, Sidney Simon and Herbert Collins, of Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hunchberger of 344 South Central avenue, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McFadden of 1446 Hawthorne street and Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery of 117 South Kenwood street, were members of a merry party who motored to Riverside Sunday in a new six-cylinder seven-passenger Buick. Luncheon and the afternoon recital at the Mission Inn were enjoyed, after which calls were made in Corona on the return trip to Glendale, where these delighted people arrived at 8 o'clock.

NATIONAL FARMERS HOLD CONVENTION

Government Aid Sought in Marketing Cotton—Work of Peter Radford Commended.

Fort Worth, Texas.—The eleventh annual meeting of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America came to a close in this city today. More than two thousand delegates were present, representing the various state organizations and covering an area from coast to coast and from the great lakes to the gulf.

President Chas. S. Barrett, presided over the sessions and introduced the various speakers. The keynote of the convention was the action of the convention in asking governmental aid in financing the cotton crop of the South.

"The greatest crisis in years, brought on by the European war, faces the United States," said President Barrett in his opening address. "There is only one thing to do and that is for the United States government to buy three or four million bales of cotton at not less than ten cents a pound from the farmers of the South to be held until a higher price may be obtained and, when sold, the profit, minus the expense of handling to be remitted to the farmers."

The convention went on record as favoring the Henry bill introduced before Congress recently, which favors the buying of cotton by the government as a relief of the present situation. This bill was drafted with the co-operation of President Barrett, who believes that it fully covers the situation.

Provision was made for the raising of a fund of $200,000 for the purpose of maintaining a committee to devise plans for relieving the depressing results of the European war. This committee will include a member from every organized state, together with the national officials and the national executive committee. The committee will be in charge of Peter Radford of Texas, who was appointed chairman, and before the adjournment of the session more than $10,000 of the fund had already been pledged.

A resolution was passed condemning the present war and recommending the establishment of an international parliament and an international court, looking to universal peace and good will between the nations of the world.

Child Labor Condemned.

A resolution was passed endorsing the bill providing for the elimination of products from interstate commerce which are manufactured in factories employing children less than fourteen years of age or those employing children under sixteen years of age more than eight hours.

A marketing plan introduced by Harry Tracy of Texas in which a practical system of marketing farm products was outlined was heartily endorsed by resolution.

Union Officials Endorsed.

Referring to the work of the officers of the Farmers' Union, Mr. Barrett paid a high tribute to the manner in which they have co-operated with him. "They have stood steadfastly by me in every call to duty," said Mr. Barrett, "and in every endeavor for the general good. They are true faithful and conscientious men. I want to pay especial tribute to one individual, Peter Radford. If I should be asked to name one man in the Union who has done more to lighten my own load, who stood ready day or night for service, who doesn't even wait for the distress signal, then I'd have to say Peter Radford. Men like Peter Radford keep one's faith sound, his courage high and renew belief in humanity."

Union Growing Rapidly.

President Barrett stated that the Union was fast growing in numbers and in strength. Twenty-seven states in the Union are included in its membership and the total number of members aggregate more than eight million. It is the boast of the Union that all its members are men who are actual farmers and that no one who does not till the soil, is eligible for membership in the organization.

The officials of the Union were unanimously re-elected for the coming year as follows: C. S. Barrett, Georgia, president; A. V. Swift, vice president, Oregon; A. C. Davis, secretary Arkansas.

MILLER POPULAR

Marshal Harry W. Miller, candidate for justice of the peace of Burbank township, is a justly popular man. Not only is he a favorite with members of his own sex, but of the ladies as well. As one proof of this, a woman went into McGillis' store to register recently, and when asked her party affiliation, she replied "Harry Miller."

THE GIRL FROM CHICAGO HAS ARRIVED IN GLENDALE

She Will Tell the Readers of The News Her Impressions of Glendale Day by Day

I just arrived in Glendale yesterday, Tuesday, coming to Los Angeles over the Santa Fe.

You Glendale people can call me the girl from Chicago, and really, my real name doesn't matter anyway, for I've promised the editor of the Glendale Evening News to write of my experiences in Glendale and what I think of Glendale people.

To begin with, I'll tell you how I happened to come to Glendale. You know I've always felt that I'd like to live in California, but never could make up my mind which part of the state to come to, for Uncle Jim lives here in what you call the Jewel City, and Uncle George lives up in Oakland, and both have wanted me to come out to the coast, but I just couldn't make up my mind until Uncle Jim sent me the anniversary number of The News. When I read that I told mother and dad I was coming out right away, and started early Friday morning, even if they do say that Friday is an unlucky day.

You know, when I arrived at Los Angeles everything seemed so strange and quiet to what Chicago was. I said to Uncle Jim that Los Angeles seemed just like a great big overgrown country town. He said, wait until you get up to the Pacific Electric station. Well, in about ten minutes we arrived there, and it did seem much livelier, and when we boarded the Glendale car I sure saw some people on Broadway and Hill streets, I guess it was, but they were all moving along like they had all the time in the world, not at all like the rush of Chicago, nor was there the noisy grind of the elevated.

The car went pretty slow until we passed the city limits, then we went "a flying" around curves, across bridges, until it fairly took one's breath away. Right after going across what seemed to be a big dry gulch, but what Uncle Jim said was the Los Angeles river, we came to Tropico. The street looked all new and torn up and there were pretty boulevard lights that looked like they had just been set in the cement base for the pavement. Then all of a sudden we were in Glendale. The houses all looked pretty and restful, with real fresh looking lawns, and the vacant lots looked much better than most of them in Los Angeles. The reason the lots were cleaner out here Uncle Jim said was because Glendale had a City Beautiful Association, which caused the citizens to clean up all the vacant property.

And by the way, the one thing that I noticed most was the great number of vacant lots, and when I mentioned it, uncle just laughed and said that Glendale was as big as New York, but hadn't been built up yet.

When the car stopped at the Pacific Electric station it was about 2 o'clock, and as uncle had some business to attend to before going up to his home in Glendale Heights, he suggested that we have lunch.

We walked down Brand boulevard half a block to Whitton's confectionery.

While not so large, this place is as classy as most in Chicago, all the fixtures in mahogany and a great, large fountain. Of course the "trimmings" of a place don't amount to so much anyway; it's what they serve. The lunch really was delicious. I ordered a hot waffle and chocolate, and the waffle was browned just right and so good that I ordered another. The chocolate, strange to relate, was all milk and cream, instead of the hot water body with a dab of whipped cream on top. Uncle asked for coffee and a hot tamale, and I know he must have liked the coffee, for he drank three cups. As I was leaving, the display of candies attracted me, as it usually does, and you may be sure I was pleasantly surprised to see Johnston's Milwaukee chocolates, my favorite kind, and you can just bet I bought a pound.

Just as we left Whitton's, we noticed a large crowd gathered on the corner. I thought I was going to see something exciting, as a drunk was grabbed by two policemen and hustled into a large auto. I thought he must be a sure enough "western bad man," for there were four other cops in the machine, but was fooled good and proper, for when I asked the person standing next to me what the excitement meant, he said: "Oh, it's just a bunch of "movie" actors taking a picture."

Uncle joked me about being from the East and so green, then started down the street to the Glendale Paint and Paper Co.'s store for an enamel of some kind for his new garage. Little did I think when I went into this store that I would see anyone that I knew, but the first person that spoke to us was Mr. Frank Kuntzner, whom I had seen a number of times at the big paint and wall paper house of W. P. Nelson Co., located at 614 Michigan avenue, Chicago, just two blocks from the fine Illinois Central passenger station. Mr. Kuntzner said that he and his uncle, Mr. Gorrell, also of Illinois, had purchased the business last November and had greatly increased during the year their stock of paints, wall paper, stationery, school supplies, etc., and that business had been exceptionally good despite the fact that times were supposed to be rather slow in California. Just now, he said, they were busy preparing for the winter season (which is rain instead of snow in this land of flowers) by furnishing this locality with barrels and barrels of a roof and wall paint guaranteed to be waterproof, and I sure know what Frank Kuntzner guarantees in the paint line will do the work.

While we were at the paint store, uncle said we might just as well get his Studebaker "6," which he kept next door at the Brand Boulevard Garage, when he went to the city. Uncle has had such good service from his car that he's a regular Studebaker "fan," and while they were talking I overheard Mr. Dale, the proprietor of the garage, say that he had sold five cars last month, and that he had noticed that more Studebakers had been registered during September than that of any other car selling for over $600, proving that they had started the season with sales ahead of any other car with the exception of the Ford. He told me that he would have to show me the new Studebaker roadster, which would arrive next week, and that it was one of the classiest roadsters on the market. After filling the gasoline tank with the Union Oil Company high-power gas, we started for home.

NORTH GLENDALE

Mrs. William Alston of 1652 Ruth street was called to Hollywood because of the death of her uncle, Mr. Barkley Lyon, one of the well-known pioneer residents of that vicinity, which occurred last Sunday.

Miss Rosalie England of La Ramada spent the past few days in the home of Mrs. George Mitchell of Kenneth road as the guest of Miss Jeanie Mitchell.

Mrs. John McMillan and little son Jack of Los Angeles spent Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Webb of 1321 Valley View road.

The marriage of Miss Hazel Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hill of Grandin avenue, Sierra Madre, to Mr. George Morgridge, the popular editor of the Sierra Madre News, which was solemnized at twilight last Saturday evening at the beautiful home of the bride's parents, will be of much interest to the many friends of both parties, who are well known in Glendale. The ceremony was performed by Dr. James Campbell of Avalon, former pastor and friend of the young couple. The bride was graduated from U. S. C. class of 1910, and is a popular member of the Entre Nous sorority and the groom of the Iowa Methodist college. Mr. and Mrs. Morgridge, upon their return from an extended honeymoon, will be at home in their beautiful new bungalow on Live Oak avenue, Sierra Madre.

The many friends of Mr. Van Vleck Edding of 1016 Fairview avenue, who has been spending some time in South America as a missionary under the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, will be very happy to learn that he is expected home in a week or so, having left Panama the third of this month with his associate, Mr. Vern Morgan of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Josselyn and daughters, Misses Blanche and Ruth, motored to Redlands last Saturday and are spending the week with Mr. Josselyn's sister, Mrs. Kerns, of that place.

TROPICO

One hears nothing but carnival, carnival, on every street and among the citizens of Tropico, and Frank E. Peters, chairman of the carnival committee, is responsible for all of this commotion and great excitement. Mr. Peters is working most effectively in this great boosting scheme for Tropico, and when Saturday, October 31, arrives, Tropico will have donned holiday attire and be ready to receive her many visitors and extend the welcome of this prosperous little city. The city hall will be completed then, also the new library and fire department. That night Tropico will be brightly illuminated, as the eighty-one electric lights recently installed will be turned on for the first time. A novel feature of the carnival festivities will be the automobile drill, in which twelve machines will participate.

The meeting of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club, to be held at Knights of Pythias hall, promises to be one of exceptional interest, from the fact that the program is in charge of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman of the legislative committee, and a number of the proposed amendments that come before the voters Nov. 3 for consideration will be discussed. Dr. Russell is a most forcible speaker and the other speakers, whom Dr. Russel has procured to appear on the program, are prominent club workers and well qualified to discuss the questions. A large attendance of club members and their guests is anticipated.

Mrs. Glen Craig and Mrs. Jens Askeland of Burbank, Mrs. Richard Tiffany of Pasadena and Mrs. Fred Spear of Tropico, four charming young matrons are hostesses this afternoon, entertaining the Kensington Club at the attractive home of Mrs. William A. Hough on North Central avenue.

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Goodsell and son of Chicago are the house guests of Rev. and Mrs. Henry C. Goodsell of Palmer avenue.

We don't see why we haven't as much business sagacity as most of those who have succeeded. That's what the successful ones thought, but they didn't sit around talking about it.

THE POLITICAL PREACHER

THE PULPIT WARNED AGAINST THE YELLOW PERIL OF POLITICS.

A Consecrated Ministry Needed for the Rural Churches.

By Peter Radford.
Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

The farmers of this nation have on their payroll 95,000 preachers and this number applying themselves diligently and exclusively to the religious work at hand is sadly inadequate to properly serve their respective communities.

Those who put on ecclesiastical robes are in a measure free to unlock every door to the human heart and enter the secret chambers of reason and every person should submit their conduct to review and seek the counsel of those divinely appointed messengers of life, but the moment the minister closes the Bible and opens the law book, he becomes a menace to society.

The difficulty of keeping the preacher in the pulpit is as old as religion. Christ encountered it in the temple when he drove the priests from the bargain counter back to the pulpit. Our pilgrim fathers met it when, through the influence of the clergy, a witch court was established at Salem, Mass., in 1692, that precipitated a legal holocaust threatening to reduce the population to ashes and which was extinguished by the laymen uniting and forcing the preachers back to the pulpit.

The greatest peril to the church today is politics. The temptation of the ministry to throw down the cross of Christ and pick up the club of the policeman; to substitute the penalties of the law for the power of the altar and to legislate religion into human hearts, never was greater.

The world never needed a religious ministry more nor political preachers less than it does today. We need ministers to teach us how to live; we know how to vote.

The religious preacher is the most capable servant and the political preacher the sorriest master the world has ever known. Wherever power is placed in the hands of the latter they invariably become intolerant, bigoted and vicious and resort to the whip and the faggot to enforce their opinion.

Civilization has many times been compelled to drive incorrigible preachers back to the pulpit at the point of the bayonet. Many of the pages of history are wet with blood shed at the hands of political preachers who wrote laws on the statute books that committed arson upon mankind, maimed human beings with the hatchet and sent helpless women to the torture rack, all because they disagreed with their views. When in control of government, the pulpit politicians invariably undertake to perform legislative miracles such as casting out witches with the flame of a torch, suborning conscience with shackles and enforcing opinions with the guillotine.

Mixing Politics and Religion.

Politics and religion will not blend. No free government can long exist or the church perform its mission to society when preachers and politicians temporarily exchange callings, and a civilization that will countenance such conduct will soon decay. Such a traffic in occupations is as unsound in principle as the white slave trade is immoral in practice.

The hand that passes the sacrament should not collect slush funds for political purposes. The gentle voice that comforts us in sorrow and pronounces the last sad rites upon our departed loved ones should not rave and rant on the hustings. I do not believe a preacher can manipulate political machinery and be righteous any more than he could become a burglar and be honest. I think it as immoral for a preacher to seek to lobby while he prays as it would be for him to gamble while he preaches.

A preacher can no more preach a political sermon without converting his pulpit into a political rostrum than he could sell intoxicating liquor from the altar without converting the church into a bar-room. He can no more purify politics by playing the game than he can sanctify gambling by running a lottery.

I join in the oft-repeated suggestion that a preacher has as much right in political brawls as a saloon keeper and we also admit that he has as much right to get drunk as anyone else, but we would rather he would not do so for the "greater the saint the greater the sin." I think a political bishop can turkey trot in the name of Christianity as consistently as he can enter into a mud-slinging political contest to the disgrace of his church.

It is my opinion that when this world is saved it will be through religious sermons and not through political speeches. Salvation must come to us from the Bible and not from the statute book; it will come through holy councils of consecrated ministers and not from caucuses of political preachers.

The Problem of the Laymen.

There never was a time when preachers and politicians formed an unholy alliance that civilization did not shriek out and Christianity cry aloud. Since the beginning of government, politicians have sought to decoy the ministry into the mesnes of politics and make them carry banners in political processions. They have taken the ministry to the mountain-top of power and offered to make them monarch of all they surveyed, and while most of them have said, "get thee behind me Satan," a few have fallen with a crash that has shaken every pulpit in Christendom.

The ministry, unsophisticated and confiding, is no match for the politician versed in artful persuasion and skilled in deceit, and it is the duty of the laymen to protect the ministry against the onslaught of these wolves in sheep's clothing and drive the politicians from the pulpit with the lash of public scorn. It is the laymen's problem to keep the ministry free from unholy alliances, for it is said on divine authority that we are our brother's keeper.

Political Prayer Meetings.

It is a sad day for Christianity when the church bells call the communicants together for a political prayer meeting. Such gatherings mark the high tide of religious political fanaticism, put bitterness into the lives of men; fan the flame of class hatred and destroy Christian influence in the community. The spirit actuating such meetings is anarchic, un-Christlike and dangerous to both church and state.

It must be said to the credit of the church that the political preacher is fast disappearing and may his influence ever wane and his shadow ever grow less is the prayer of the farmers of this nation.

If there is a fire at your home, an accident or sickness, a phone is worth many times its cost. As a time saver it is unsurpassed.

A business man who has not had a Home phone installed could increase his patrons, as people will not phone orders to a store which doesn't have the phone that they use.

Every woman knows the steps a phone in the home will save. Groceries and meat can be ordered, messages can be telephoned, and the modern telephone is a great convenience socially in a hundred and one ways.

Why be without a phone another day when by notifying our office you can have a phone installed in a prompt and efficient manner?

If you already have a Home phone and there is any complaint in the service, phone same to the Trouble Department and it will be promptly remedied.

EAGLE ROCK

Frederick Brown, who left Occidental college with the highest scholarship record of any man in the institution one year ago and entered Harvard Law School, has been elected to the editorial board of the Harvard Law Review, one of the highest honors the school affords. The fact that he also made the varsity football team did not interfere with his scholastic recognition.

Mrs. Wm. Willis of Pasadena was a guest of her sister, Mrs. A. A. House and family, a few days this past week.

Geo. Howard's grocery now has a Ford delivery auto, which was purchased one day last week. It is the second store in Eagle Rock to have auto delivery.

Last week, Thursday evening, the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce resumed its duties for the season and began by electing a new president in the person of Rev. W. F. Rice. Much important business was transacted at this opening meeting, such as election of new officers, laying out plans for the coming year, and appointing various committees to attend to certain affairs pertaining to the chamber. Following is the list of new officers for the year: President, Rev. Rice; vice-presidents, L. Hatch, H. Needham and F. Hannaford; secretary, W. L. Miller; treasurer, F. Biles; executive committee, W. Cook, J. Taylor and O. J. Root.

Sunday evening a large congregation was present at the Congregational church, as it was a union meeting of all the churches in the interests of California "dry." This meeting was given under the auspices of the Eagle Rock Dry Federation. Mr. Wiley Phillips was the principal speaker for the evening.

Friday evening, Oct. 9, was a "great" night at the Mason home on Ridgeway avenue, when the rally social and reception to college students took place. An excellent program was given which caused considerable merriment. At a late hour the happy guests wended their way home, all expressing themselves as having had a most delightful time.

Last Sunday the Presbyterian Sunday school was organized in Symphony hall and the following officers were elected: Superintendent, J. Stultz; assistant, W. L. Miller; treasurer, Theodore Koethen; organist, Miss L. Johnston; chorister, Mrs. L. Kirkes. Rev. Kirkes conducted the preaching services and in the evening the meeting was turned over to the young people, at which time a committee was appointed to choose officers for the Christian Endeavor.

Mrs. Miller, society editor of the Sentinel, returned home last week after enjoying a month's vacation in Illinois and Minnesota visiting old friends and relatives.

Secret practice will be held by Occidental college two days of each week from now until the end of the season. Joseph Pipal, coach of the Tigers, has set aside Wednesday and Friday as the days for the "undercover" plays. He is not satisfied with the way his men are going. The work of the ends in the scrimmage one night last week was quite unsatisfactory. They did fine work in practice, but when placed against opposition their work was "ragged."

Monday a number of the men of the Methodist church gathered at the church and did good work painting the "almost new" house of worship. Indeed, the Methodist church now is very attractive and artistic. Besides being enalrged, other features have been added, such as a beautiful cobblestone wall about four feet in height and extending around the sides and back of the building, as well as across the front, where it terminates in a sort of porch with large cobblestone piers capped with cement caps. The exterior is finished with shakes and the interior is plastered. Later on a gas furnace will probably be installed as a means of heating the church.

The Episcopal Guild house on Eagle avenue and Valley drive is under construction and will no doubt be completed this week. Mr. Nash is building it.

The ladies of the Twentieth Century Club have issued invitations for a whist party to be held on Wednesday of this week at the Martsolf home on Satsuma avenue. A luncheon will be served at noon, the proceeds of which will go towards the new clubhouse fund.

Miss H. Pratt of Highland Park is having a large six-room house erected on Ridgeway avenue. E. Unger is the contractor.

THE FLYING SQUADRON

Rev. H. J. Hartzell, Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Moore, Rev. and Mrs. Hoskyns, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Henderson, Mrs. P. B. Keim and Mr. Ellis Thomas of West Glendale were among those who attended the meeting of the Flying Squadron at the Shrine auditorium in Los Angeles Tuesday evening.

The Flying Squadron is an organization of some of the most prominent men in the United States under the leadership of Ex-Governor Hanley, who are working in the interest of nation-wide prohibition. These men are going from city to city throughout the states and holding meetings. At present they are on the coast owing to the dry campaign being carried on here. Tuesday night's meeting was a very enthusiastic as well as a very optimistic one.

LEGISLATIVE MEETING

A legislative meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Goff, 312 Belmont street. The amendments to be voted on Nov. 3rd will be studied. Ladies of societies invited.

All have more or less vanity. If not vain about our clothes and neat appearance, we are inclined to strut a little about our indifference to the opinion of the world.

The value of having the courage of one's convictions depends upon whether one's convictions are right.

WAR NOTES

Unofficial reports say the Germans are occupying Ostend and that the Belgian seat of government has again been moved, this time to Havre on French territory.

German aviators preparing for a bomb attack on Paris were driven away by French airmen.

England is startled by a Boer uprising in South Africa, the first discordant note among the colonies of Great Britain since the beginning of the war, and England has been able to concentrate all her attention against Germany. A portion of the Dutch population in the Cape Colonies have rallied to Germany's support.
